

HERALD CAMERAMEN TELL THEIR STORY

Society Ladies Take to the Black Bottom

And how! The feminine division of the high society world is working overtime to master the ups and downs of the black bottom while sojourning at Palm Beach. L. to r.: Marjorie Oelrichs, Mrs. Horace Work, Mrs. Lawrence Fuller, Mrs. Alfred Herbert Hunt Jr., Mrs. J. M. L. Rutherford getting instructions from Wallace Milan. Heh! Heh! Let's go!

Cane-Duelling Millionaire Brothers in Court

Here's the way scene was set in West Side court, New York, when Campbell Carrington appeared against brother who attacked him with cane. L. to r.: Campbell Carrington, Max D. Steiner, his attorney, Col. Edward Carrington, the defendant, and his attorney, John J. McManus. Note that Campbell Carrington is still wearing bandages.

Scion of Dutch Family Weds U. S. Girl

Rene M. Van Lennep, son of Dutch diplomat, and his bride, former Gertrude V. Holmgren, daughter of former Representative John P. Holmgren of Mass., snapped after their wedding at Municipal building, New York. Both are well known in high social circles.

President Arrives at New Home

It was moving day for a President when Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge left the White House to repairmen and went to live at the palatial mansion of Mrs. Elmer Schlesinger in capital's fashionable district. They will live in the Schlesinger home while the White House is being renovated. Here is the President and the White House collie at the door of the presidential residence.

Now It's Sequins

Statuesque Nelli Barr (above) former Russia ballet queen now in Hollywood, effectively displays latest in Paris vogue. It is comprised of hundreds of gold sequins applied over pink georgette. A narrow band of rhinestones tops the bodice forming the shoulder straps.

At the Quaker City's Brilliant Ball

Lavish Bal Masque rounded out Philadelphia's winter social season. Nine hundred society figures, in gorgeous costumes, were in frolic. A popular celebrant was Mrs. George D. Lewis (below).

(By Pacific & Atlantic)

Keeping a $70,000 Babe in Condition

Babe Ruth, having agreed to play ball for a mere $70,000 yearly, went through a rigorous workout at Artie McGovern's gym in New York. Artie doing his stuff on Babe is shown above.

Artist Model Wars on Flaming Youth

Believing that petting, hip-flask toting and other habits, said to be characteristic of modern youth, are "the bunk," pugnacious Olive Porter (above), 17-year-old Chicago artist model, has formed a "slow club" as a protest. She plans to substitute athletics, dramatics and proper dancing for the above mentioned diversions.

Welsh Miners Threaten Premier Baldwin

Crazed with grief, friends and relatives of the fifty-two miners killed in coal pit explosion at Cwm Ebbw Vale, Wales, attempted to attack the party accompanying Stanley Baldwin when the British premier visited the scene of the disaster the following day. Police action was necessary to protect the premier from the rush of angry miners. This cabled picture shows Premier Baldwin (holding hat and smoking pipe) at the scene of the disaster. Detective Inspector Ashley of Scotland Yard is at the right. Two policemen, miners and ambulance corps men can be seen in the group at the left.

Social Luminaries Take Peek at Movie Making

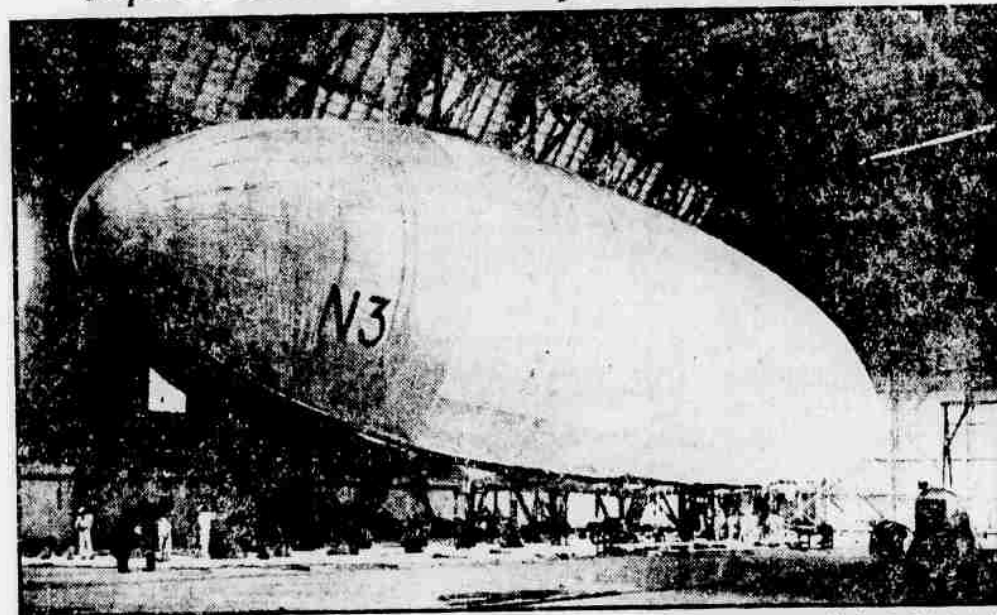

A distinguished gathering of notables visited Universal City, Cal., other day to watch movie making. Reading from l. to r. are Mrs. Vincent Astor, Mrs. Harriman Russell, Kathleen Norris, Laura La Plante, George Cull, Lady Beaverbrook, Mary Pickford, Lady Aiken, Capt. Alistair Mackintosh, Lady Diana Manners and Wesley Ruggles.

Tarbot, Mystery Vet, Called Faker

Jerry Tarbot (left), the mystery veteran, at the Washington hearing on his pension plea during which it was charged he was a faker. He is shown with Representative Carter of California.

Japan's Italian Built Blimp Nears Completion

Japan's interest in aviation is not confined exclusively to planes, as can be gathered from this photo of the N-3, recently purchased from Italy. It is shown in hangar at Kasunigaura airfield, Japan, being assembled under supervision of General Nobile of Italian army.

(Copyright: 1927: Pacific & Atlantic Photos, Inc.)

Quits Capital

Sudden departure of Mexican Ambassador Manuel C. Tellez (above) for Mexico City has led to rumors that his recall has been requested by state department, which refused however to comment.